Final Note by the Minister for Finance and Revenue.

Subject.—

The Mysore Industrial Statistics Bill.

(3)

These papers relate to the proposal to introduce a Bill to facilitate the collection of statistics of certain kinds relating to industries and it is in conformity with the measure already enacted in this behalf in British India. It has been felt for some time that the quantity and nature of reliable information in regard to the progress of industries and of labour conditions available to them in the State has been inadequate and that steps should be taken to effect an improvement in the matter. It was realised that the most important and necessary step was to provide for a fuller compilation of industrial statistics concerning the State. The limit of what could be achieved in this respect by relying merely on good work and the voluntary supply of information has been reached and legislation is therefore considered to be quite necessary. The Bill is designed to enable the Government to collect information and to empower it to frame rules for the purpose.

It is proposed to introduce the general principles of the Bill in the next session of the Representative Assembly.

The Dewan and the other Ministers are agreeable to the proposal and I solicit His Highness' gracious approval thereto.

OFFICE OF THE PRIVATE SECRETARY TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY

NOTIFICATION

New Delhi, the 4th March 1942

No. 44-H.—His Excellency the Viceroy has been pleased to award the Indian Police Medal to the following officer :—

Name of officer and rank.	Statement of services for which the decoration has been awarded.
	BENGAL.
Radha Prosad Pandey, Constable No. 1493, of the 24-Parganas District.	On the night of the 20th November 1941 Constable Radha Prosad Pandey, while on patrol duty with a Head Constable, heard sounds of gun-fire and cries of alarm in the distance. He and the Head Constable ran to the place whence these sounds came, and found that a dacoity was in progress in a house there, the inhabitants of which were putting up a spirited resistance. On their arrival the dacoits fled, and although none of the inhabitants came to their assistance, these two Police officers gave chase, despite the fact that they had reason to believe that the dacoits were armed with guns. Constable Pandey succeeded in overtaking and pulling down one of the dacoits, who seriously wounded him by stabbing him in the thigh with a dagger. Despite this injury the Constable clung on to his adversary until the Head Constable arrived and felled the latter with a lathi. Constable Pandey showed great promptitude and initiative and his conduct was of a most gallant character.

This award is made for gallantry under regulation (d) (i) of the regulations governing the grant of the Indian Police Medal and consequently carries with it the allowance admissible to officers of and below the rank of Inspector of Police.

L. G. PINNELL,
Private Secretary to H. E. the Viceroy.

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT

The following Bill* was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 27th February, 1942:—

L. A. BILL NO. 14 OF 1942.

A Bill to extend the date up to which certain duties characterised as protective in the First Schedule to the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, shall have effect.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the date up to which certain duties characterised as protective in the First Schedule to the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, shall have effect;

XXXII of 1934.

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Protective Duties Continuation Act, 1942.

Amendment of the First Schedule, Act XXXII of 1934.

2. In the First Schedule to the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, in Items Nos. 10 (1), 11 (1), 17, 43, 44, 44 (1), 46, 46 (1), 47, 47(1), 47 (6), 48, 48 (1), 48 (3), 48 (4), 48 (5), 48 (7), 48 (9), 48 (10), 49 (5), 51 (2), 51 (3), 61 (5), 63 (2), 63 (3), 63 (6), 63 (9), 63 (10), 63 (12), 63 (15), 63 (17), 63 (19), 63 (20), 63 (21), 63 (25), 63 (27) and 74, for the entry or entries in the seventh column "March 31st, 1942" the entry or entries "March 31st, 1944" shall be substituted.

XXXII of 1934.

Amendment of section 3, Act XIII of 1932.

3. In section 3 of the Sugar Industry (Protection) Act, 1932, for the figure "1942" the figure "1944" shall be substituted.

XIII of 1932.

*The Governor General has been pleased to accord the sanction required by the sub-section (2) of section 67 of the Government of India Act as saved from repeal by paragraph 12 of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936, to the introduction in the Legislative Assembly of this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In addition to the protective duties on iron and steel manufactures, sugar, and silver thread and wire (including the so-called gold thread and wire mainly made of silver) which were extended for one year by the Protective Duties Continuation Act, 1941, the protective duties on wood pulp, paper, and cotton and silk manufactures will expire on the 31st March, 1942. In the present unsettled conditions no stable data on the basis of which inquiries by a Tariff Board could be instituted are available. In the absence of such inquiries it is not possible to ascertain the quantum of protection required during normal years and the object of this Bill is to maintain the status quo for a further period of two years, i.e., up to the 31st March, 1944.

2. The protective duties on wheat and wheat flour were also extended for one year by the Indian Tariff (Amendment) Act, 1941. During this period of one year prices of wheat witnessed a sharp rise and it was felt necessary to facilitate imports from abroad. Accordingly the import duty on wheat was reduced to annas 2 per hundredweight with effect from the 30th September, 1941. Subsequently this small balance was also remitted in December, 1941. There is thus at present only a nominal entry of a duty on wheat on the Statute-book. This Bill seeks to extend the existing protective duties both on wheat and wheat flour for a further period of two years in order to preserve the power to restore protection without delay should a change in circumstances necessitate this.

9. If any person engaged in connection with the collection of statistics under this Act wilfully discloses any information or the contents of any return given or made under this Act otherwise than in the execution of his duties under this Act or for the purposes of the prosecution of an offence under this Act or under the Indian Penal Code, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees XLV of 1860.

Cognisance of offences.

10. No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted except by or with the sanction of the statistics authority.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing powers, rules may be made under this section regulating the exercise of the right of access to documents and the right of entry conferred by section 6.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It has been felt for some time, by both the Central and Provincial Governments, that the quantity and nature of reliable information in regard to the progress of industries and of labour conditions available to them has been inadequate and that steps should be taken to effect an improvement in the matter. It was realised that the most important step necessary was to provide for a fuller compilation of industrial statistics. The limit of what could be achieved in this respect by relying merely on goodwill and the voluntary supply of information had been reached, and legislation was therefore considered to be necessary. The matter was placed before the Eleventh Industries Conference in December 1939 and the Conference of Labour Ministers held in January 1940. Both these bodies were of the opinion that the collection of statistics relating to industries and labour was most desirable and recommended that the Central Government should undertake legislation on the subject. The scope of the compilation, as in clause 3, has found unanimous acceptance by all the Provincial Governments and the Bill is designed to enable Provincial Governments to collect information and to frame rules for the purpose. It is proposed that with a view to securing uniformity in the procedure and the method to be adopted in collecting information, directions may be issued by the Central Government under section 126 (2) of the Government of India Act, 1935, where necessary.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 27th February, 1942:—

We, the undersigned, members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

Papers I—III.

In clause 1 of the Bill we have omitted the sub-clauses dealing with extent and commencement. They are unnecessary.

Clause 2, as redrafted by us, is intended to retain the power, now vested in a Court, of permitting a person, other than a regular legal practitioner authorised by law, to act as pleader in certain circumstances, but to set definite limits to the exercise of that power by detailing the circumstances in which alone the Court shall exercise it. We consider that these circumstances should include such cases as the defence of a subordinate official by a Government officer, the defence of a juvenile delinquent by an officer of one of those societies which concern themselves with affording Court aid to juveniles, and the defence of an accused person when, owing to the outlying nature of the place where the trial is held or to the poverty of the accused, the services of a regular legal practitioner cannot be obtained without expenditure beyond the means of the accused person. In this last case we require the Court to record its grounds for holding that the accused person is too poor to be able to retain a regular legal practitioner.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of state on the 26th February, 1942 :—

C. OF S. BILL NO. 1 OF 1942.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913, for the purposes hereinafter appearing ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :-

"1. This Act may be called the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1942.

2. Section 54 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), shall be deleted.

3. In section 153 of the said Act, for sub-section (6) the following sub-section shall be substituted :

(6), In this section the expression "company" means any company liable to be wound up under this Act and the expression "arrangement" includes a re-organization of the share capital of the company by the consolidation of shares of different classes or by the division of shares into shares of different classes or by both those methods, and for the purposes of this section unsecured creditors who may have filed suits or obtained decrees shall be deemed to be of the same class as other unsecured creditors.'

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 54 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, provides that if the conditions contained in the memorandum of a company are to be modified so as to re-organize its share capital, whether by consolidation of shares of different classes or by division of its shares into shares of different classes, no preference or special privilege attached to any class of shares shall be interfered with except by resolution passed by a majority of shareholders of that class holding three-fourths of the share capital of that class. The well-nigh prohibitive majority required by the section has made it extremely difficult, in practice, to put through any scheme for consolidation or sub-division of share capital in the case of companies in which the rights and privileges attached to the different classes of shares are set out in the memorandum. With the passing of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, an anomaly has resulted—that while under the new section 153 A, added by that Act, it is now possible for a company to carry out a scheme for the transfer of the whole of its assets and undertaking and for dissolution by proceedings under section 153, which require a far less stringent majority than is required by section 54, the relatively less important matter of consolidation or sub-division of the capital of a company can only be effected through the machinery of the latter section.

The Greene Committee, which reported on the provisions of the English Companies Act resulting in the comprehensive amendment and consolidation Acts of 1928 and 1929 in England, make the following observations on sections 45 and 120 of the English Companies Act of 1908 (since repealed) which were substantially in the same form as the corresponding sections 54 and 153, respectively, of the Indian Companies Act, 1913 :—

> ıving regard to the wide construction placed by the Courts on section 120 there appears to us to be little necessity to retain section 45 since everything or nearly everything that can be done under that section could equally well be done under section 120. Moreover, the fact that in schemes involving any of the matters specifically mentioned in section 45 both that section and section 120 have usually to be complied with involves unnecessary complication (see re. Palace Hotel, 1912, 2 Ch. 438, re. Nordberg 1915, 2 Ch. 439), particularly in view of the fact that it is often a matter of great difficulty to obtain the very large and exceptional majority required by section 45."

Recommendation.—" We recommend that section 45 should be repealed, but in order to avoid any doubts it will be desirable so to amend section 120 as to show that the powers conferred by that section are to include all the powers now conferred by section 45."

The Greene Committee's recommendation was accepted with the result that section 45 of the English Companies Act of 1908 was deleted and a provision was inserted in section 153 of the English Companies Act of 1929 (corresponding to section 120 of the repealed Act of 1908) providing that an " arrangement " under that section included a reorganization of share capital by consolidation or sub-division of shares.

It is now sought to remedy what was left undone by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, by deletion of section 54 and amendment of section 153 on the same lines as in England.

It is hereby declared that it is expedient in the public interest that the provisions of clauses 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this Bill shall have immediate effect under the Provisional Collection of Taxes Act, 1931. XVI of 1931.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to continue for a further period of one year the existing rate of salt duty : to increase the rate of duty on motor spirit : to impose a temporary surcharge of 20 per cent. on all import duties other than those on salt, motor spirit and raw cotton, which are subjected to special duties, and with the exception of certain goods which have to be excluded under the Trade Agreement with Burma : to increase the postage rate on letters to one and a half annas : to increase the Central surcharge on taxes on income and to continue the rate of excess profits tax at 66 2/3 per cent. subject to a concession whereby up to one-tenth of the tax will be funded for release after the war if the assessee will put in double this amount from his own share of taxed profits.

2. Clause 2 provides for the continuance for a further period of one year of the existing provisions regarding salt duty. The duty of Rs. 1-4-0 per maund on salt remains liable to the additional duty imposed under section 5 of the Indian Finance (Supplementary and Extending) Act, 1931.

3. Clause 3 provides for an increase of the excise duty on motor spirit from twelve annas to fifteen annas per gallon, which will automatically increase the customs import duty to the same amount.

4. Clause 4 provides for an increase of the excise duty on kerosene by equating it with the enhanced customs duty.

5. Clause 5 provides for an increase of the excise duty on silver by 20 per cent. so that it shall equal the enhanced customs import duty as required by the Trade Agreement with Burma.

6. Clause 6 provides for the levy of a temporary surcharge for one year only of 20 per cent. on all imported goods chargeable with customs duty except certain goods subject to special higher taxation and certain goods imported from Burma on which in accordance with the terms of the Trade Agreement with Burma no increase in customs duty is permissible.

7. Clause 7 provides for the continuance for a further period of one year of the present inland postage rates except that the initial rate for letters is raised from one anna three pies to one anna six pies.

8. Clause 8 provides for the continuance for a further period of one year of the existing rates of income-tax and super-tax increased by a surcharge for the purposes of the Central Government at varying rates on different slabs of income, and also for the imposition of income-tax on incomes between Rs. 1,000 and Rs. 2,000 per annum at 6 pies on each rupee exceeding Rs. 750 which will not be leviable if the assessee deposits a somewhat larger amount, namely, 4 per cent. of his income exceeding Rs. 750, in the Post Office Defence Savings Bank.

9. Clause 9 provides for the continuance of the excess profits tax at the rate of 66 2/3 per cent.

10. Clause 10 provides for a concession to be given to excess profits tax assessees to have an amount up to one-tenth of their excess profits tax funded for their benefit provided they deposit with the Central Government double this amount. While the portion of the tax so funded will be released subject to conditions which will be subsequently worked out by Government, the assessee's share will earn 2 per cent. simple interest and will be repayable 12 months after the termination of hostilities.

11. The reasons for making the above changes have been fully explained in my Budget Speech.

19. THE MYSORE INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS BILL.

Statement of Principles.

It has been felt for some time that the quantity and nature of reliable information in regard to the progress of industries and of labour conditions available in the State, have been inadequate and that steps should be taken to effect an improvement in this direction. The most important and necessary step that is required is to provide for a fuller compilation of industrial statistics concerning the State. The limit of what could be achieved in this respect by relying merely on good work and the voluntary supply of information has been reached and legislation is therefore considered to be quite necessary. The Bill proposed in this behalf is designed to enable the Government to collect information and to empower it to frame rules for the purpose.

THE MYSORE INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS BILL.

WHEREAS it is expedient to facilitate the collection of statistics of certain kinds relating to industries;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Mysore Industrial Statistics Act, 194 .

(2) It extends to the whole of Mysore.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

Definition.

2. In this Act "prescribed" means prescribed in rules made under this Act or in any form prescribed by those rules.

(i) prices of commodities,

(iii) living conditions, including housing, water-supply and sanitation,

(iv) indebtedness,

(v) rents of dwelling-houses,

(vii) provident and other funds provided for labour,

(viii) benefits and amenities provided for labour,

(ix) hours of work,

(x) employment and unemployment,

(xi) industrial and labour disputes,

and thereupon the provisions of this Act shall apply to the collection of those statistics.

(2) In clause (a) of sub-section (1), "factory" means a factory as defined in clause (j) of section 2 of the Mysore Factories Act, 1936, or any premises deemed to be a factory in pursuance of a declaration made under sub-section (1) of section 5 of that Act.

(1) The statistics authority may serve or cause to be served on any person a notice requiring him to furnish, at such intervals and in such form and with such particulars as may be prescribed, such information or returns relating to any matter in respect of which statistics are to be collected and to such authority or person and in such manner and at such times as may be prescribed.

(2) The notice referred to in sub-section (1) may be served by post.

Right of access to record or document.

6. The statistics authority or any person authorised by him in writing in this behalf shall, for the purposes of the collection of any statistics under this Act, have access to any relevant record or document in the possession of any person required to furnish any information or return under this Act, and may enter at any reasonable time any premises wherein he believes such record or document to be, and may ask any question necessary for obtaining any information required to be furnished under this Act.

(2) Except for the purposes of a prosecution under this Act or under the Indian Penal Code as in force in Mysore, no person not engaged in connection with the collection of statistics under this Act, shall be permitted to see any individual return or information referred to in sub-section (1).

20. THE MYSORE INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS BILL.

Statement of Principles.

It has been felt for some time that the quantity and nature of reliable information in regard to the progress of industries and of labour conditions available in the State, have been inadequate and that steps should be taken to effect an improvement in this direction. The most important and necessary step that is required is to provide for a fuller compilation of industrial statistics concerning the State. The limit of what could be achieved in this respect by relying merely on good work and the voluntary supply of information has been reached and legislation is therefore considered to be quite necessary. The Bill proposed in this behalf is designed to enable the Government to collect information and to empower it to frame rules for the purpose.

II.—INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS ACT.

MEMORANDUM.

At present the labour statistics collected under statutory authority cover only a limited field. These statutory statistics are compiled from notices and registers required to be given or maintained under the following Acts:—

(1) The Factories Act. (2) The Tea Districts Emigrant Labour Act. (3) The Mines Act. (4) The Payment of Wages Act.

In addition certain statistics are collected by voluntary agencies. These are not generally complete and in any case as they are compiled frequently in different manners, are not always easy to compare or consolidate.

2. The Industrial Statistics Act was passed in 1942 and gives to Government much larger statutory powers than existed previously for the collection of statistics. The Labour Department of the Government of India will be responsible for the administration of that part of the Act which concerns labour statistics. At the same time the subject in regard to these statistics falls in the concurrent list and so the actual collection of statistics will be the responsibility of Provinces and States. Uniformity is however essential, if full value is to be secured from the collected statistics and such uniformity necessitates central direction.

It is therefore proposed that though the rules under the Act will be made by the Provincial Governments, the Centre will use its power under section 11 of the Act to give directions as to the statistics to be collected on an all-India basis.

It would appear desirable that the industrially important States should enact similar legislation and also, so as to ensure uniformity in the statistics collected throughout India, that they should agree by convention to follow the Central co-ordination of those statistics which are collected on an all-India basis both in Provinces and States. The Central Statistics would, of course, be made available to all participating States along with the Provinces.

3. Though as stated above present labour statistics in India cover only a limited field and though compilation of labour statistics is here extremely backward in comparison with other countries, it will probably be agreed that it would not be advisable to widen all at once the field covered by our labour statistics but rather to proceed to collect statistics on a few well-defined subjects on which those statistics are most needed. It is proposed that a start should be made by collecting under the Statistics Act statistics under the two following heads:—

(1) Wages and earnings of labour and (2) Hours of work.

4. As regards wages and earnings, the general lines on which the Government of India propose to proceed in the first instance in order to collect as simply as possible a reasonable amount of statistical data are as follows:—

(a) Data will be collected from employers direct and in the first instance from a select number of industries only, the selection having regard to their size as measured by the numbers employed. It will be necessary to include a convenient number of industries so as to make it possible to compare wages and earnings, but in the early stages not to do more than prepare the way for a more comprehensive scheme which may be required in the future when some experience for the purpose has been built up.

(b) Industries which appear suitable for selection in the first instance are Textile Industry—[cotton (including cotton ginning and baling) and jute]. Iron and Steel and heavy Engineering, Coal mines, plantations and in order to have at least one seasonal industry Sugar factories.

(c) The forms in which the statistics will be collected will initially be kept as simple as possible, though as experience is gained more comprehensive returns may be required. A tentative form (Form A) in which it is proposed to collect information is attached together with some notes on the form.

(d) Wage statistics will be collected monthly. It is suggested that as wages are in most cases paid monthly the submission of monthly returns will not involve any considerable additional work.

(e) At present it is proposed to collect statistics of wage rates relating only to skilled and unskilled workers. Difficulties of definition, it is thought, make it impracticable at present to do more than this though it is proposed to consult industry as to whether separate wage statistics for various classes of tradesmen may not be found possible in regard to individual well-defined trades.

(f) Though information regarding rates of wages and actual earnings in respect of individual trades may not at present be found possible, it is considered advisable to obtain information regarding the spread of individual earnings. It is suggested that these should be collected monthly in the form attached (Form B).

5. The information regarding earnings obtained from an employer can only be in respect of individuals during the period of their employment with the employer who makes the return, but it is important to obtain also data regarding family earnings as in relation to cost of living and standard of life it is the family earnings that are important. Information regarding family earnings can however, not be obtained from employers but must be obtained by other means. The Royal Commission on Labour, recognising this point, made certain suggestions as to the manner in which the officially collected data might be supplemented by special enquiries conducted by universities and other suitable institutions. It is for consideration whether the suggestion should be adopted and universities asked to collaborate. If this suggestion is accepted it would be necessary to lay down from the centre the lines on which such investigations should be carried out.

6. As regards hours of work it is proposed that data should be collected showing the actual shifts worked in a factory or mine, and that along with such statistics figures should be furnished which would enable an average to be struck of the average time worked per worker per shift, and of the number of workers who come on work at varying degrees of lateness. This latter would be of peculiar value in connection with mines.

7. It is suggested that if the general lines of procedure proposed in this memorandum are accepted, draft rules and draft forms should be prepared by the Central Government in consultation with the Provinces, and thereafter should be considered by a Sub-Committee of the Standing Labour Committee consisting of Secretary, Labour Department, Government of India as Chairman, Mr. Constantine, as representative of Provinces, a representative of the Indian States, two representatives of Employers and two representatives of Labour.

8. The following proposals will be for discussion:—

(a) Whether it is advisable to take steps to secure on a Centrally controlled basis uniform all-India statistics covering (i) wages and earnings of labour, and (ii) hours of work in certain industries.

(b) If this is approved, for what industries should statistics be collected in the first instance?

(c) Whether the general lines proposed in paras. 4—6 are accepted.

(d) Whether the procedure proposed in para. 6 for future progress should be followed.

(3) Piece-workers who are paid on the completion of a job should be included in A(b) or B(b) according as the normal period for the completion of the job is a day or a week.

(4) 'Overtime Earning' and 'Aggregate Hours worked' need not be given in the case of Salaried Workers.

(5) 'Salaried Workers' should not include persons whose salaries exceed Rs. 150 p. m.

Notes.—(1) The Form provides for obtaining information in the form of aggregates both as regards earnings and numbers, and subdivides the information as between day workers, weekly workers, monthly workers and salaried workers. Sub-division into these four classes will materially improve the value of the statistics and it is hoped that the sub-division will be found possible.

(2) A note has not been included in the form defining children. It is suggested that it might be suitable to fix the qualifying age as between a child and an adult at 16, though it may eventually become necessary to have a further sub-division of the children category into those between 12 and 15, and 15 and 18. At present, however, as age statistics are bound to be very inaccurate this is not considered necessary.

(3) The Form also provides for sub-division of data so as to distinguish between the earnings of time workers and the earnings of piece-workers. This is considered necessary. Similarly it is considered necessary that overtime earnings should be recorded in a separate column.

(4) The column for aggregate hours worked is advisable in order to try to secure information as to actual hours of work which may enable some information to be secured regarding lateness of arrival and such like.

THE MYSORE INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS BILL.

Sir,

I beg to move that the Mysore Industrial Statistics Bill published under rule 36 of the Mysore Legislative Rules, 1940, be taken into consideration.

At no time has there been greater need for statistics in relation to industry and labour than today. Not only Government, but doubtless the members of this House and others have felt the need for such statistics. The demand for taking steps to ensure that correct statistics regarding industry or labour has been insistent. The bill before this House seeks to provide for statutory compulsion in the matter of industrial statistics. This Bill provides for the collection of statistics relating to the several subjects mentioned in sub-clause (1) of clause 3. The scope of this sub-clause is very wide. It provides for almost all matters on which the collection of statistics is necessary or even desirable. Not only does it provide for the collection of statistics in regard to all matters relating to factories, but for several other particulars also. Investigations into the cost of production, into the agricultural and mining matters are also permitted under these sub-clauses. That is why the same sub-clause gives power to Government to direct that statistics shall be collected relating to any of the matters specified therein, and Experience has shown that the limits of voluntary co-operation has been reached. The time has now come when certain elements which, by refusing or neglecting to give information requested, have impeded the efforts at the collection of statistics, should be compelled to furnish information. This Bill seeks to give the necessary legislative sanction. Sufficient safeguards have also been provided in ss 7 & 9 the Bill to prevent the disclosure of information which might embarass or adversely affect any individual or undertaking. Fairly drastic punishments have been provided against persons engaged in connection with collection of statistics who disclose such information or the contents of any return. Certain penalties have also to be prescribed in respect of persons who refuse or neglect to furnish information wnated and thereby render valueless the trouble taken to collect statistics.

At a time when plans for reconstruction are being universally discussed and are engaging the active consideration of the several Governments, it is more than ever, imperative that proper, correct and adequate statistics should be available.

There is just one other aspect of the question to which I should like to advert. A certain degree of uniformity in the collection of statistics in Mysore as well as in British India is highly desirable. A central co-ordination of these statistics collected on an All-India basis by them both in the British Indian Provinces and States would go a long way in resolving several vexed questions which are of an All-India concern. In April last year, the Government of India enacted the Industrial Statistics Act on the model of which our Bill is based. By enacting similar legislation in Mysore such uniformity in statistics collected throughout India will be secured. Not only therefore is this Bill of great importance to the State, but it is desirable from the point of view of the collection of statistics throughout India.

4). The Representative Assembly which was consulted about this measure in June this year, has accorded its unanimous approval of these principles. I commend it for your consideration.

Act No I of 1943

THE MYSORE INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS BILL. Act 1943

(Received the assent of His Highness the Maharaja on the 12th day of Aug 1943)

WHEREAS it is expedient to facilitate the collection of statistics of certain kinds relating to industries;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Mysore Industrial Statistics Act, 1943.

(2) It extends to the whole of Mysore.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

Definition.

2. In this Act "prescribed" means prescribed in rules made under this Act or in any form prescribed by those rules.

Collection of statistics.

3. (1) The Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, direct that statistics shall be collected relating to any of the following matters, namely :—

(a) any matter relating to factories,

(b) any of the following matters so far as they relate to welfare of labour and conditions of labour, namely :—

(i) prices of commodities,
(ii) attendance,
(iii) living conditions, including housing, water-supply and sanitation,
(iv) indebtedness,
(v) rents of dwelling-houses,
(vi) wages and other earnings, whole of its assets and undertaking and for dissolution by proceedings under section 153 which requires a far less majority than what is required under section 54 for a relatively less important matter of consolidation or sub-division of the capital of a company.

2. It is now sought to remedy this defect by deletion of section 54 and amendment of section 153 on the same lines as in British India.

3. The definition of a banking concern as given in section 277-F of the Mysore Companies Act, 1938, is of a general character, giving rise to the difficulty in administration, whether the definition applies to smaller institutions working in the State calling themselves banks, whose principal business, however, is not the acceptance of deposit of money on current account or otherwise, subject to withdrawal by cheque, draft or order. The Bill seeks to amend section 277-F so as to provide that any company using the word "bank", "banker" or "banking" as part of its name shall be deemed to be a banking company, irrespective of whether the business of accepting deposits of money on current account or otherwise subject to withdrawal by cheque, draft or order was its principal business or not. The law in British India following which the Act of 1938 was passed has been amended likewise.

4. The present occasion is also utilised to provide for extension of time in filing documents in certain cases and also to allow deposits of Provident Fund moneys in Government Savings Bank accounts.

(vii) provident and other funds provided for labour,
(viii) benefits and amenities provided for labour,
(ix) hours of work,
(x) employment and unemployment,
(xi) industrial and labour disputes,

and thereupon the provisions of this Act shall apply to the collection of those statistics.

Statement of objects and reasons.

It has been felt for some time that the quantity and nature of reliable information in regard to the progress of industries and of labour conditions available in the State, have been inadequate and that steps should be taken to effect an improvement in this direction. The most important and necessary step that is required is to provide for a fuller compilation of industrial statistics concerning the State. The limit of what could be achieved in this respect by relying merely on good work and the voluntary supply of information has been reached and legislation is therefore considered to be quite necessary. The Bill proposed in this behalf is designed to enable the Government to collect information and to empower it to frame rules for the purpose.

No. Rl. 1114, dated Bangalore, the 7th June 1943.

Under the provisions of Rule 6 of the Mysore Legislative Rules, 1941, the Dewan has been pleased to order the publication in the Gazette of the Weights and Measures (Amendment) Bill together with the statement of Objects and Reasons.

By Order,

C. NARAYANASWAMY NAIDU,
Secretary to Government,
Law Department.

2. Section 3 of the Mysore Weights and Measures Act, 1902 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), shall be renumbered as sub-section (1) of that section and after the section as so renumbered, the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely,—

"(2) A weight or measure of capacity shall be certified only when it has been manufactured by the Government or by a manufacturer duly licensed under this Act."

3. Clause (c) of Section 3-A of the said Act shall be renumbered as clause (d) of that section and before the clause as so renumbered, the following clause shall be inserted, namely,—
